Why Are You Still Carrying That Sin Baggage?

Suitcases Of Sin

Sin comes in many shapes, forms, sizes, levels, and degrees. It can look like, smell like, act like, talk like, and pretend to be nearly any and everything you've ever seen or witnessed or experienced.

Sin is not our natural nature. It is beyond anything we were ever supposed to experience or come in contact with. And because it has entered the world, our spiritual nature has become susceptible to it.

Everything sin touches it can destroy. Everything it grabs hold of remains held until freed by the power of God's Word. Everything it's allowed to participate in it will manipulate, skew, cloud and confuse.

Sin is not to be played with, toyed with, touched or teased. It is not something you can willingly fight with and survive on your own. It is not a game. Sin can and has destroyed the lives of many good and great people and if given the opportunity will do the same to you.

Sin, is sin. Period.

The types of sin varies from A to Z. There are almost 700 sins listed in the Bible. And each of them has a different definition. Many are similar, all are costly, and some are deadly.

Recovering from any sin takes a proven process. That process requires you to do certain things that will literally loosen sin's grip on whatever area of your body or life it has hold of; strip sin's power away from it's hold on you; expose it to God's marvelous light, and burn it up forever.

But, this process requires your complete willingness and participation.

Removing sin from your body, or your life, starts with surrender. Once you have truly given in, and realize you cannot fight that thing alone, God's process takes over and fights for you. It prompts you to confess. It asks you to repent. And it encourages you to ask for forgiveness.

The process requires you to let God be in control. It is then, and only then, that you can truly be free of sin. Now, let's examine different types of sin.
